NISH, THE THIRD NATIONAL CAPITAL TO BE ABANDONED IN THE WAR, DESCRIBED

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY DESCRIBES IT AS ONE OF THE ANCIENT NUCLEI OF THE BALKAN NATION AND ONCE A PROMINENT ROMAN STRONGHOLD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 29.—"Nish, the third national capital to be abandoned before the necessities of war in one of the ancient nuclei of the Balkan nation," says a primer on war geography just given out by the National Geographic Society. It has been the heart of things Serbian in the Balkan peninsula, since the days when the Slav people became the nucleus of imperial Byzantium. The other capitals which have been abandoned in the course of the war are those of Brussels, Belgium and Belgrade, the peace time government center of Serbia. One other capital has been nearly abandoned, Varna, which was temporarily abandoned by the French government, but successfully defended against all of its enemy's assaults. Nish has been serving as the Serbian capital, practically since the outbreak of the war.

Balkans countries here, while the part of the Oriental Empire, the expanse through from Paris, Munich, and Vienna to Constantinople, passes through the Balkans. Also, a branch railway runs from here to the Adriatic coast at Salonica and thence to Athens. Thus the little place has not been so far out of the world, as its position of a remote outpost might lead one to suppose.

"The hills around the city have been strongly fortified with modern earthworks. The frontier town Balkans is the most difficult of invasion, and the defensive works of the city command the valley approaches from the north and south. The Serbian railways are administered from Nish, and here, the railway has its factory for the repair of rolling stock, its stores of supplies, and central offices for operation. The city has an iron works of some importance.

"It was under the walls of Nish, ancient Naisos, that the Emperor Constantine destroyed an army of invading Goths in A. D. 283. It was here, also, which adds still more to the past glories of the place,—that the emperor Constantine the Great was born in A. D. 274. Nish was destroyed by Attila and his Huns in the 5th century, and in the 9th century the Bulgarians became its masters. The Hungarians and the Byzantines possessed it in turn in the 11th century, and next it fell into the hands of the Serbians, who entertained the German emperor, Frederick Barbarossa and his crusaders in the city. Frederick marched over the country that his nation is marching along again today. In 1456 the historic city's light went out, for it fell definitely under Turkish rule, and remained a part of the Ottoman Empire for 400 years."

GATES WALK OFF AND SPIRITS TALK SUNDAY, HALLOW'EEN

CHIEF FOWLER ISSUES HALLOW'EEN INSTRUCTIONS TO OFFICERS OF POLICE FORCE.

Officers Will Make Every Effort to Arrest Big Boys and Men Who Carry Pranks too Far.

Though Chief of Police in Corpus Christi, Claude Fowler does not unlike, take to deny the century old legend concerning the activities of hobgoblins, witches, sorcerers and screaming hoars of the night who are said to be forth of the last night of October, but as evidence of the gross and improper of the community, he does not emphatically take issue with those who would blame upon the aforementioned spirit many mean tricks that pass beyond the most loose interpretation of fun and become crimes against the law as are perpetrated on that night. And Chief Fowler has advised to see that the real perpetrators of such crimes or tricks of pranks and gags and pranks, mainly under cover of Halloween, be punished to the full extent of the law.

The small boys who for many days has looked forward to that night as the one during the whole year in which they may vent their feelings in hooliganism, will not be indulged and the Corpus Christi policeman will be patient beyond words. But the law has been, even men, who are wont to commit actual crimes against their neighbors under the glow of fun will be dealt with severely. The police force on Halloween night will be materially augmented and those who are wont to perpetrate mischief making.

In the street following the ritual concerning the riding of the lid in Spanish through ghost parties, Jack-o'-lantern exhibitions and fortune telling, some of the officers believe there is much fun for all. It is a known fact, dictated by many a "black pudding" and evidence of his money a young girl that if she goes out at midnight and puts out her eyes, she will see the face of her future husband. If she also holds the bag as well as the paper for these will never come into her life. The more of her wishes. This has been tried time and time again and one girl there is stories who knows another girl whose name was tried the experiment with and result, for she never married. Parties for such night seeing experiments and for just plain fun, under the veil of Halloween, are still very much in vogue. The police force on Halloween night will be materially augmented and those who are wont to perpetrate mischief making.

MINSTREL RELEARSALS

Cost for Afterpiece "A Day in the Courts" Was Decided Upon Last Night.

The ladies of the Order of Goodwill have given a Halloween party at the Hotel, last night, but instead of singing Halloween pranks and jokes, they had a good time. They worked hard and long preparing for their latest-thing entertainment.

Final selection was made of the young ladies who will tomorrow the Minstrel Relearsals. They are Miss Rosemary, Miss Evelyn, Miss Marie, Miss Dora, Miss Helen, Miss Virginia, Miss Emma, Miss Ethel, Miss Mildred, Miss Margaret, Miss Cora, Miss Gladys, Miss William and Miss Constance.

The cost was also determined for the afterpiece of the show, "A Day in the Courts." In this act the ladies will do much singing. The performers and the girls they will play are: Miss Marie, Miss Dora, Miss Helen, Miss Virginia, Miss Emma, Miss Ethel, Miss Mildred, Miss Margaret, Miss Cora, Miss Gladys, Miss William and Miss Constance.

The ladies voted to hold a rehearsal every night next week until Thursday night, when they will make their final bow in an excellent and original production of the High School Auditorium.

Hand Embroidered Japanese Kimono

Designed by FASHION DESIGNER A. C. NEW YORK. For those who admire pretty colors in house gowns this hand-embroidered Japanese model in pink, light blue, purple, rose or red is very attractive. It is typical of the Japanese kimono, with handsome hand-embroidered design in white silk. It is designed in simple design and is with long sleeves and warmly trimmed. These kimonos are very wonderful hand-made and are so elaborate that they are sometimes used as evening wraps. Pendants and drops, tassels and sash ends lavishly embroidered are also in great demand. Puff coats may be of any length whatever, but almost always they flare. ANNA MAY.
